Memory Poems

1. Going for water (3rd, 4th & 5th stanzas)

- Robert Frost.

We ran as if to meet the moon
That slowly dawned behind the trees
The barren boughs without the leaves without the birds, without the breeze.

But once within the wood, we paused
like gnomes that hid us from the moon, ready to run to hiding new
with laughter when she found us soon.

Each laid on other a staying hand
to listen ere we dared to look,
and in the hush we joined to make
we heard, we knew we heard the brook

2. The cry of the Children

Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

(The first nine lines of the poem)

“For oh” say the children, “we are weary,
and we cannot run or leap
From your pleasures fair and fine!
If we cared for any meadows, it were merely
To drop down in them and sleep.
Our knees tremble surely in the stooping.
We fall upon our faces, trying to go;
and, underneath our heavy eyelids drooping,
the reddest flower would look as pale as snow.

3. MIGRANT BIRD

- Famida Y. Basheer

The globe’s my world. The cloud’s my kin
I care not where the skies begin;
I spread my wings through all the din;
Through fears and fright I fly my flight
No walls for me, no vigil gates,
No flags, no machine guns that blast
Citizens of those border states
Brothers of her brother’s sons.
No maps, no boundaries to block
My sojourn into unknown lands.
I spawn and splash in distant spills,
I breed my brood where’r I will.
I won’t look down. No I will not,
with speed of wings I hasten past
And close my eyes against the sun
To dream my dreams and make them last.

4. MANLINESS

- Rudyard Kipling.

If you can dream and not make dreams your master;
If you can think and not make thoughts your aim;
If you can meet with triumph and disaster;
And treat those two imposters just the same.

If you can force your heart, and nerve and sinew
To serve your then long after they are gone;
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the will which says to them, "Hold on!"

If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the earth and everything that's in it,
And, what is more, you'll be a man, my son.

POETIC DEVICES

Introduction :

A figure of speech is a change from the ordinary manner of expression, using words in other than their literal sense to enhance the way a thought is expressed. These figures of speech are employed in a poem.

Alliteration :

Alliteration is the repetition of an initial consonant sound.

The well was dry beside the door,

In this line we can see that the consonant sound / d / is found alliterated in the words dry and door. This is the alliteration.

Apostrophe :

When there is a breaking off discourse to address some absent person or thing, some abstract quality, an inanimate object, or a nonexistent character, we call it an apostrophe.

O ye Wheels' .....

Here the wheels that are inanimate things are addressed. It is the apostrophe.

Metaphor :

Metaphor is an implied comparison between two unlike things that actually have something important in common.

The cloud's my kin.

Here the bird thinks that the cloud is like his kin (relation). It is an implied comparison between cloud and relations. It is metaphor.

Onomatopoeia :

It is the use of words that imitate the sounds associated with the objects or actions they refer to.

A slender tinkling fall that made.

Here the word 'tinkling' refers to the sound. It is Onomatopoeia.

Personification :

A figure of speech in which an inanimate object or abstraction is endowed with human qualities or abilities.

The world in gloom and splendour passes by. The world here is animated as a human being passing by. The world is personified.

Simile :

It is a stated comparison (usually formed with "like" or "as") between two fundamentally dissimilar things that have certain qualities in common.

Now drops that floated on the pool.

Like pearls, and now a silver blade.

Here, water is compared to pearls. They are not similar. Pearls are precious and attractive and the colour of the pearl is as good as that of water. So, here the poet employed simile.

Oxymoron :

It is the usage of contradictory terms.

eg: The wisest fool.

Harmonic cacophony.
